ProBatter® PX3C

The Next Generation “Combo” Video Pitching Simulator

ProBatter’s revolutionary new PX3 is the third generation of video pitching simulators by the company that created the first video pitching simulator in 1999. Relying on cutting edge technology and incorporating the lessons learned from the 1st and 2nd generation machines, the PX3 combines the best features of the prior units with the technological advantages offered by present day engineering features.

The PX3 “Combo” combines the best features of the baseball and softball version, permitting our customer to use the same tunnel for two different sports, e.g., baseball and softball; baseball and cricket, etc. with just the touch of a switch. Imagine not having to dedicate a single tunnel for a single sport but being able to use that same tunnel for multiple sports.

The PX3 Combo incorporates the most popular features of prior ProBatter PX2 combos, including:

- Fully programmable, user friendly, touchscreen controller
- Ability to interchangeably throw a variety of different pitches at speeds 40-100MPH
- Full-sized video images of actual pitchers
- Pinpoint accuracy with ability to hit multiple spots both inside and outside the strike zone
- Automatic feeder system available

While the programmable choices have been reduced from our top of the line PX2 unit, the PX3 offers certain other advantages, including enhanced HD video quality and a self-contained kiosk for mounting the touchscreen controller all at a significantly reduced, introductory price. We even offer as an option, a ball tracking software product that can be integrated with the PX3 Combo.
